Experience the Real Taste of Prague!

Now you can experience the basics of cooking in the hugely popular Cooking School Chefparade with this hands-on, interactive course and take home the taste of local cuisine!

Chefparade Cooking School is a contemporary cosmopolitan cooking studio where visitors to Prague can master the basics of Czech cooking in a fun and interactive atmosphere. The hands-on courses give you the opportunity to cook and ask questions side-by-side with local chefs. You learn about the basic ingredients and spices along with best cooking practices so that you'll be able to treat your family and friends to a fantastic Czech dinner in your home country. The courses usually run in the morning finishing with a lunch prepared by you with the guidance of our Chef. The time of the course can be adjusted and lessons can also be held in the afternoon.

Chefparade Cooking School is recommended to anyone at any level. It is a fun way to relax, meet new people, have fun and learn something about Czech gastronomy and traditions.

To get a real feeling for Czech ingredients and spices, a Prague market tour has been added to the programme. Customers will experience the biggest Market area in Prague with farmer's stalls, fresh milk, spices and home -made pastries. You can see, taste and get to know ingredients for cooking your meal. If you haven't tried Becherovka yet, you will! All you need to bring is a good mood.
